WHY I GIVE

"That word, possibilities, carries great weight. I give because of that word. I am reminded of my fourth-grade teacher who influenced me to become a teacher. I give back because as a teenager my Sunday School teacher's pronouncement to my mother was 'that this child needs to go to college.' With a great deal of enthusiasm, she helped my mother find a way and financial resources."

LETTER FROM THE PRESIDENTS

Dear Friends,

Another successful year is behind us at Community College of Philadelphia. We continued to push our boundaries by serving more students, raising more philanthropic dollars and establishing new partnerships to serve more families. As we grow and evolve, our mission remains the same—providing access to higher education for all those who may benefit.

The College Foundation hosted the record-breaking Black and Gold Gala, a fundraising initiative to benefit the 50th Anniversary Promise Scholarship. What an amazing evening! The College welcomed more than 500 guests at Vie and raised nearly $225,000. Mayor James Kenney served as the honorary chair and was joined by emcee Rick Williams from 6abc.

It was also a year of record-breaking donor participation. The number of Mint Society members—those who gave $1,000 or more in FY 2018—reached almost 150 members. In addition, we celebrated our Rotunda Society members in June, recognizing almost 70 donors with lifetime giving of $100,000 or more.

Philanthropy supports everything we do at Community College of Philadelphia, including so many services and programs that benefit our students. This report represents a small sample of the many ways in which thousands of people come together to create a brighter future for families in our community and in our city. Thank you for your compassion and generosity.

Sincerely,

IMPACTING THE STUDENT EXPERIENCE

THE MONELL FOUNDATION—EXPANDING LEARNING THROUGH STUDY ABROAD

The College's Student-Faculty International Fellowship Program, supported by the Ambrose Monell Foundation, sponsors short-term study abroad programs designed to educate students about the world around them through first-hand experiences. While study abroad is common in four-year institutions, it remains unusual in community colleges. Students from the College benefit from opportunities to become immersed in other cultures, study a country's history and discover what life is like around the globe. This past year, Community College of Philadelphia students and faculty went to Mexico, Japan and England.

In 2018, 14 students and three faculty members took advantage of the opportunity to study abroad in Merida, Mexico. The Merida program explored the diversity in the Yucatan area of Mexico with its conjunction of Maya, Spanish-American and modern cosmopolitan cultures.

Ten students visited Japan and traveled to Osaka, Hiroshima, Kyoto, Okayama and Nara. The itinerary featured many of the College's longstanding partnerships, which included the World Friendship Center, the Hiroshima Peace Culture Foundation, the Hiroshima Peace Museum and the Kyoto-based Medieval Studies Institute.

The London program included students from the College's Liberal Arts Honors program and was led by Dr. Sarah Iepson, associate professor and chair of Art, and Michael Loughran, assistant professor of English. Students visited the British Museum, National Gallery, Tate Modern and St. Paul's Cathedral. They also climbed the 311 steps to the observation platform of the Great Fire of London monument. The program included day trips to St. Albans and Canterbury, and a visit to Shakespeare's Globe Theatre for a performance of "Two Noble Kinsmen," by John Fletcher and Shakespeare.

The support of the Ambrose Monell Foundation for the Study Abroad program has provided invaluable international experiences for students. It supports the College's efforts to encourage all students to think globally and achieve greater understanding of other cultures.

CHANGING LIVES: CENTER FOR MALE ENGAGEMENT AND REENTRY SUPPORT PROJECT

The College's Center for Male Engagement helps male first-time college students overcome barriers to earning a degree. Formerly incarcerated individuals find guidance through the Reentry Support Project, which assists students in adapting to a college environment, and gaining the necessary skills to succeed in their academic and life endeavors.

In 2017-2018, the Community College of Philadelphia Foundation awarded more than $525,000 in scholarships to nearly 400 students.

Foundation Director Priya Roy hosted a meet-and-greet event at Ballard Spahr in April. Highlighting staff and students from the College's Center for Male Engagement and the Reentry Support Project, the event provided an opportunity for guests to learn more about the College and how it has transformed the lives of students.

50TH ANNIVERSARY PROMISE SCHOLARS WELCOME

The College welcomed its newest cohort of 50th Anniversary Promise Scholars in August 2017. In its first three years, the College has assisted more than 700 students. This fundraising initiative enables college-ready, Pell-eligible, Philadelphia high school graduates to attend Community College of Philadelphia with no out-of-pocket cost for tuition and fees. The program began in fall 2015 in response to America's College Promise proposal.

IMPACTING PARTNERSHIPS

PARX CASINO DIVERSITY PARTNERSHIP

Community College of Philadelphia and Parx Casino established a diversity partnership in January 2018 that helped fund support services for students who are veterans, LGBTQ, women and members of underserved communities. The partnership, which includes a gift of $102,000 from Parx, will empower students to overcome challenges and reach their academic and career goals.

Ron Davis, director of Diversity and Community Affairs at Parx Casino, who frequently takes time from his busy schedule to mentor students at the College, is largely responsible for spearheading this partnership. He is among the growing legion of current and former NFL players who champion social and educational causes in their community. Over the course of decades, he has used the skills he developed on the field to succeed in the highly competitive world of business. His deep-seated belief in the power of teamwork has helped make that possible, particularly within his current capacity with Parx Casino.

"We have a responsibility to share our success with the community. We've done that since we opened our doors in 2006," said Davis. "Corporate responsibility is community responsibility... We're hoping that other corporations join this initiative at some point to help begin a gateway of growth within the [College's] community."

"Parx Casino has gone far beyond providing scholarships and funding," said Dr. Donald Generals, president of Community College of Philadelphia. "They bring caring leaders to our campus who make a huge difference in our students' lives."

COFFEE FOR A CAUSE HELPS PAVE THE PATH FOR STUDENT SUCCESS

Saxbys recently set out on a new mission to “Make Life Better” one coffee at a time by establishing a scholarship program for Community College of Philadelphia students.

This past year, the grand openings at 1800 Chestnut and 1818 Market streets of two new Saxbys, a locally-based coffee and hospitality company, featured celebrity baristas who welcomed patrons to enjoy coffee for a cause at a “pay-as-you-wish” price, with proceeds benefiting the College.

At the November event, throngs of people crowded the location throughout the day to have orders handed to them by guest baristas, including Philadelphia Mayor James Kenney, City Councilman Allan Domb, Chris Long and Rodney McLeod of the Philadelphia Eagles, State Representative Jordan Harris, Fox 29 TV Host Quincy Harris, and others.

During the event, Nick Bayer, CEO and founder of Saxbys and a member of the College’s Foundation Board, delivered a surprise announcement met with cheers and applause: in addition to Saxbys matching all proceeds from the grand opening for the scholarship, the Maguire Foundation would match the combined total raised. The Maguire Foundation focuses on improving the quality of life through supporting education, the arts and humanities, and fighting hunger and homelessness.

In addition to generating scholarship dollars, Saxbys provides potential employment pathways for students. “Our students not only will have an opportunity to have scholarships, but they also have an opportunity to work here,” said Dr. Generals.

This collaborative effort to empower students emphasizes the possibilities that exist at the College.

IMPACTING ALUMNI

HAPPI TALKS ENTREPRENEURSHIP CONFERENCE FEATURES ALUMNI SPEAKERS

Alumni, faculty and students attended an inspiring conference in early November that featured entrepreneur Terri Matthews, president and CEO of Terri Matthews Brands. Her companies range from real estate development, fashion, construction and television to an autism advocacy agency. The conference also featured presentations to motivate and inspire others to succeed. Devin DiNofa, a real estate broker with Keller Williams, discussed his start in real estate to where he is now, currently selling millions of dollars in properties. Rich Goldberg, president of Safian Rudolph and an alumnus of the College's 10,000 Small Businesses program, taught attendees about the importance of building a brand that lasts decades. Patrick Foley, vice president of Baird, a wealth management company, shared tips about growing and maintaining wealth through the stock market.

ALUMNI REUNION CELEBRATION HELD IN DECEMBER

The Alumni Association brought together more than 60 alumni from the past five decades to enjoy fellowship, food and music in the historic Mint Building. Attendees enjoyed a nostalgic walk down memory lane as fellow alumni shared stories and discussed the impact the College had on their lives.

The College's Alumni Association has more than 4,000 lifetime members and provides a variety of benefits. For more information on the Alumni Association, please contact Darryl Irizarry at 215.751.8015 or dairizarry@ccp.edu.

ALUMNI DAY OF SERVICE

The Alumni Association worked alongside Feltonville School for Arts and Science in Northeast Philadelphia in February 2018 to renovate a classroom that had not been used in years. Once used for storage, the school asked the Alumni Association to help convert it into a virtual science laboratory for fifth- through eighth-grade students. Alumni worked diligently to move desks, cabinets and furniture to remodel the room into a working science lab. Former Philadelphia Fire Commissioner and alumnus Derrick Sawyer was proud to offer his time. "Knowing that these children will have a place to be creative and to explore new things is amazing. I'm happy to be working with the Alumni Association on this endeavor."

WHY I GIVE

"CCP will always come first. I had nowhere to go after high school graduation. Six months after my graduation, CCP was established, and I applied to the second class and was accepted. I was simultaneously forced to study and think. I survived, matured and graduated with a 2.75 grade point average, but was still not able to enroll at Temple University. With the help of my CCP counselor, I took summer courses at Temple and eventually was accepted. I graduated from Temple with the highest service award for my contributions to student government. Where would I be today without CCP and the concept of open admissions? This is why I give to CCP."

EMPOWERING COMMUNITIES | EXPANDING POSSIBILITIES TRANSFORMING OUR CITY

The College's Black and Gold Gala on June 13 was a huge success, boasting 500 guests at Vie and raising more than $225,000. The Black and Gold Gala recognizes outstanding service by individuals and organizations that demonstrate involvement in community growth in the areas of education, business, social services and health. This recognition is awarded to those who exemplify leadership and are active in community initiatives in Philadelphia. This year, the College celebrated the following achievements:

CORPORATE LEADERSHIP AWARD

Independence Blue Cross

COMMUNITY HERO AWARD

Ronald W. Davis, Director of Diversity and Community Affairs, Parx Casino

ALUMNI ACHIEVEMENT AWARD

RoseAnn B. Rosenthal, President and CEO, Ben Franklin Technology Partners of Southeastern Pennsylvania

ALUMNI ACHIEVEMENT AWARD

Luis E. Torrado, Founder and CEO Torrado Construction

Philadelphia Mayor James F. Kenney served as honorary chair of the gala. The gala brought out community, civic and business leaders including Philadelphia Eagle Malcolm Jenkins, a member of the College's Foundation Board of Directors; Dr. Ellyn Jo Waller, educator and president of the Foundation Board of Directors; Harold T. Epps, director of commerce for the city of Philadelphia; Dr. William Hite, School District of Philadelphia superintendent; and State Representative James Roebuck Jr., a vice chair of the College's Board of Trustees.

Proceeds from the Black and Gold Gala support the 50th Anniversary Promise Scholarship, which provides high school students the opportunity to pursue an associate degree with no cost for tuition and fees.

"[We recognize the] thousands of graduates who have been able to lift themselves, lift their families, lift their communities...serve as mentors...make Philadelphia the city it is."

MINT SOCIETY EVENT

The College celebrated its Mint Society members, donors who give a minimum of $1,000 annually, in September 2017 at a reception at the Museum of the American Revolution. During the reception, past Foundation Board President Arlene Yocum was honored for her many years of service to the College. A scholarship endowment has been established in her name.

GOLD SOCIETY CELEBRATION

Gold Society members, donors who have given to the College in consecutive years, were treated to a musical performance on Dec. 14, 2017, featuring CCP Voices, a musical group of faculty and students. The performance included a mix of classical, jazz, show tunes and pop music. The evening ended with a holiday season sing-along enjoyed by all.

ROTUNDA SOCIETY BREAKFAST

The Foundation honored its top philanthropists at the Rotunda Society Breakfast held in June. An intimate group of donors gathered in the Rotunda inside the College's historic Mint Building and were welcomed by Dr. Ellyn Jo Waller, president of the Community College of Philadelphia Foundation, and College President Dr. Donald Generals. Members of the Rotunda Society have donated a minimum of $100,000 to the College.

Donors enjoyed breakfast and a presentation by Dr. Sarah Iepson, associate professor of Art, on the art and architecture of the Rotunda, which has experienced many renovations and upgrades throughout its 117 years. The mammoth leaded glass chandelier, mosaic tile floor and murals captivated guests, who also received an exclusive tour of the Gilroy Roberts Exhibit. Roberts was a Chief Engraver at the U.S. Mint, who worked in the building from 1948 to 1964. "The Rotunda is a fitting location in which to celebrate our Society donors as it represents the kind of change transformational gifts can make at the College," said Dr. Generals.

CELEBRATING RETIREES

The College hosted a Retiree Luncheon on June 19, 2018, with more than 40 retired faculty and staff, to recognize their continued dedication to the institution through event participation or financial support. Twenty retirees volunteered to assist in planning engaging activities for the newly formed Retiree Advisory Council. If you are interested in volunteering or wish to suggest an activity, please contact Lyvette Jones at lyjones@ccp.edu or 215.751.8046.

FOUNDATION BOARD MEMBER CELEBRATES HIS BIRTHDAY AND A GREAT CAUSE

Sulaiman Rahman, Community College of Philadelphia Foundation vice president, celebrated his birthday with his closest friends and their closest charities. Hundreds of guests flocked to Sugar House Casino to raise funds for the College, Big Brothers Big Sisters, the Fund for the School District of Philadelphia and the Urban League of Philadelphia. His share of the proceeds from the event supported student scholarships at the College.

WHY I GIVE

"In a city that has been challenged with addressing poverty, I believe that CCP is one of the single most important institutions because it provides an accessible pathway to upward economic mobility for more families coming from Philadelphia's low- to moderate-income communities than any other institution. That is why I choose to give and fundraise for CCP."

IMPACTING STUDENTS FINANCIALLY

PAYING IT FORWARD WITH A $500,000 SCHOLARSHIP ENDOWMENT

In March 1968, Richard Hansell returned home from Vietnam and decided to attend college using his G.I. benefits. He had a mother and a mentally challenged older sister to care for, and thought that he would attend college and work part time. Unfortunately, there was a strike at the College that year. Unable to afford a more expensive college, he chose to work instead. Fast forward nearly 20 years later, Richard enrolled at the College in 1986 as a part-time Physical Science major, graduating in 1994.

After 25 years of service with the Philadelphia Police Department as a forensic scientist, specializing in latent fingerprints, Richard retired. He soon moved out west, where he joined another police department as a latent fingerprint examiner until officially retiring in 2004.

Grateful for his educational experience at Community College of Philadelphia, Richard has designated a $500,000 estate gift to establish and endow the Richard Hansell Scholarship. Ultimately, Richard's gift will support students who have an interest in taking coursework leading to a career in the field of forensics. The Richard Hansell Scholarship Endowment will honor the memory of the students of Thomas A. Edison High School who lost their lives in military combat in the Vietnam conflict.

WHY I GIVE

"Attending Community College of Philadelphia was the most important thing I did. The College helped me in my decision-making all my adult life. If anyone tells you that a college degree is not worth the time, you tell them about me and how I became a better person. I can only hope whomever my endowment helps that they have the 'right stuff' to take advantage of the opportunities available at CCP!"

DR. DOUGLAS A. WHYTE – A TRIBUTE TO A MAN WHO ALWAYS PUT STUDENTS FIRST

Dr. Douglas A. Whyte (1936–2014) was a professor of Human Services at Community College of Philadelphia for 33 years. He was a driving force, developing and leading the department of Behavioral Health and Human Services from its early days through several major changes to the department it is today. He was an ardent advocate for the College and his area of expertise, having served as president of the Mid-Atlantic Consortium for Human Services and as a member of the National Organization for Human Services Education.

He was a Lindback Award winner in 1981 and department head for many years. Having no children of his own, his students became his family, and he was always willing to provide mentorship and counsel. Doug's compassion, devotion and generosity led him to leave a legacy gift to continue the support he had always given students.

Dr. Whyte also supported his community and was active in Big Brothers Big Sisters, Meals for the Homeless in Delaware County, a study group within the Delaware Prisons and Media Friends Meeting of the Religious Society of Friends. We applaud his service to Community College of Philadelphia and recognize him for his generosity and dedication to student success.

CREATE YOUR OWN LEGACY

Follow Richard and Doug's example and support the educational aspiration of future Community College of Philadelphia students. Contact the office of Institutional Advancement at 215.751.8046 or Lyvette Jones at ljones@ccp.edu for more information.

IMPACTING THE FUTURE

NEW FUNDRAISING INITIATIVE

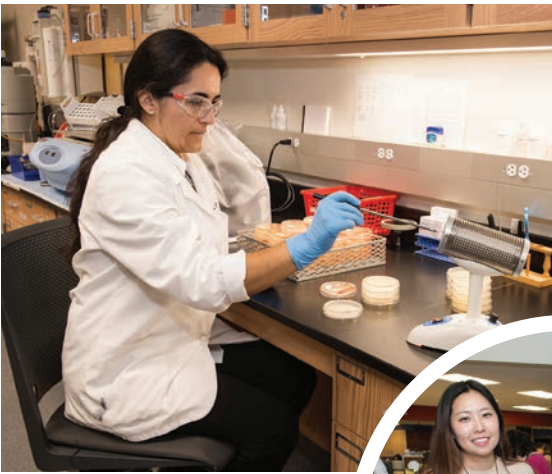

Under the leadership of new Foundation Board President Ellyn Jo Waller, Ed.D., First Lady of Enon Tabernacle Baptist Church, the College Foundation is exploring fundraising initiatives to maximize student success. The fundraising is organized around Building Philadelphia's Future and is guided by Impact 2025, the College's strategic plan, and the goals of the the College's Facilities Master Plan.

The guiding principles of Impact 2025 support student success and increase the visibility and availability of the College as a cornerstone institution for Philadelphia.

Already the College has made progress toward this vision. Chemistry and biology labs have been renovated to support undergraduate research and experiential learning. Partnerships continue to be expanded with four-year educational institutions and with employers across the region. Priorities for new programs will be developed based on projected enrollment trends and labor market needs.

In 2019, the College will begin major capital improvement projects on its Main Campus and Regional Centers. Imagine the possibilities as the College continues its efforts in Building Philadelphia's Future.

Legacy Society

The Legacy Society recognizes donors who have made a planned or endowed gift to support the College's growth and strong heritage. This Society is comprised of the College's most committed donors, a special group of forward-thinking people who partner with the College in planning its future. Various planned giving options, such as bequests and charitable gift annuities, are ways to further personal financial goals and advance the mission of the College.

Rotunda Society

The Rotunda Society was established in 1997 to recognize Community College of Philadelphia's most generous benefactors. Individuals and organizations whose gifts total $100,000 or more since the Society was founded receive this honor. The Foundation gratefully acknowledges those donors whose gifts as of June 30, 2018, qualify them for membership in the Rotunda Society.

MAKE AN IMPACT

Leave a Legacy for Future Generations

You can help shape a future where all students meet their full potential.

By leaving a gift to Community College of Philadelphia in your will or trust, or by beneficiary designation, you can be a part of creating pathways for our students and maximizing student success. No gift is too small. You won't affect your current cash flow, and you can change your decision at any time.

To have an impact on the success of our students, please contact Lyvette Jones at lyjones@ccp.edu or 215.751.8046.

www.ccp.edu/donate

THANK YOU

On behalf of Community College of Philadelphia and the Community College of Philadelphia Foundation, we thank you for your continued support. We look forward to partnering with you in the coming year and ensure that your gifts touch the lives of our students.
